

Published based on A Promise Ring- Around Just a Pre-Engagement Ring

A Promise Ring- Around Just a Pre-Engagement Ring

When one thinks of a promise ring it is common to think about a small, inexpensive ring given to a girl as a promise of marriage down the road; however, this is not always possible. A promise ring has several other purposes besides learning to be a pre-engagement ring. A promise ring can be given or used for virtually any sign of commitment. The following are some other common uses for a promise ring.

THE Non-Romantic Promise Between Friends

A promise ring can be given as a sign on the promise between two friends. An extremely ring can be given to somewhat of a special friend, to a friend whos moving far away, or even to a friend who you do not see for awhile. A friendship promise ring is amazingly common with young girls who seem to get matching rings that claim best friends forever. A promise ring between two friends may be a way of showing that a certain friendship is something very special to you.

A Promise of To Be Chaste

Also called a chastity ring, this type of promise ring is worn as a reminder to be chaste. It is given by a boyfriend or simply a girlfriend but is also frequently written by parents to a child. Its always meant to keep one sexually pure until true love and marriage is found. Any such promise ring is a constant reminder to wearer to remain abstinent until finally marriage.

A Promise of Compound Abstinence

Promise rings can also be used by those people who are looking to stay free by alcohol or other harmful chemicals. This ring can be provided to oneself or by someone else as a constant reminder to stay freed from drugs and other substances which might be harmful to the body.

A Promise to settle Free of an Addiction

While a promise ring generally is a promise to remain free originating from a drug addiction, it can also be considered a promise to remain free from other additions too. This would include addictions such as gambling or pornography. It may well also be a promise not to take an action into access such as eating or simply video games.

A Promise from Monogamy

When a couple does will not get civilly married they often wear promise rings as a symbol of their commitment to one another. These promise rings have a very secure meaning to the couple which is a way of them expressing their need to be joined with that person for a long time.

A Promise of Silence

Within ancient times, a ring would be given as a symbol from silence. It was used as a remembrance of the importance of keeping a special secret. On occasion, a curse was engraved inside what would occur if the was revealed.

A Promise from Spiritual Commitment

In the days of old it had been common for prominent church management to wear a ring as a symbol of their commitment to church. Even today many faiths wear rings as a reminder of their spiritual motivation.

A promise ring is not limited for the usage of a pre-engagement ring, but could represent a promise between non-romantic colleagues, a promise to be chaste, a new promise of substance abstinence, a promise to settle free from an addiction, a new promise of monogamy, silence, religious commitment, and much more. One should not keep such a limited view of the promise ring as just being a new pre-engagement ring, but see the potential of its other purposes too. As seen, a promise can symbolize any promise that could be made between to individuals or maybe a promise made to oneself. A promise ring is just a physical sign of dedication.

You can also find this article published on A Promise Ring- Around Just a Pre-Engagement Ring, and on the tag pages chastity ring, constant reminder, friendship promise, reminder, Ring, sign.