Anchor Necklace - A Gift for Someone Special

The smell of salt on your skin and a deep, dark blue that stretches as far as the eye can see--the ocean is both wonderful and full of mystery. If you know someone who has a special connection with the sea, an anchor necklace may be just one of the most thoughtful gifts that anyone has ever given them. If you come from a long line of swimmers, fishermen, sailors, or shipbuilders, you can buy this for yourself as a reminder of your family heritage. Make this a piece that you wear everyday to tell everyone just how much you love the ocean.

Anchor Necklace - Typical Designs:

Most anchor necklaces are characterized by a single anchor with a single chain wrapped around its neck. For those who desire more bling, you can also go check out the other anchor pendants encrusted with diamonds, Swarovski, and other precious stones. There are also those that are just plain anchor pendants hung around your neck on a simple link chain. Because children tend to lose jewelry, you can give them costume anchor necklaces while adults will appreciate those crafted using precious metals more.

Nautical Fashion - Blast from the Past:

Four years ago, nautical-inspired looks took the fashion world by storm with anchors, stripes, and lots of reds and blues. Paris Hilton, Brad Pitt, and other A-list celebrities would wear anchor pendants and strut around in nautical-inspired clothes. These days, this is no longer the case, and that only makes wearing pendants with anchors far more special. Wear an anchor necklace, and people will now wonder why you chose that piece. In fact, this necklace may even be a great piece that will spark a conversation among strangers.

Who Will Appreciate an Anchor Necklace:

Navy Wives and Mothers; Anyone who has their loved one out in sea will view the anchor pendant as a way to remind them of that person. Because deployments can stretch from couple of months to most of the year, it is hard for these people to cope with being away from their loved ones. Having something hanging around their neck that will remind them of that person they love is a great gift.

Boat Enthusiasts:

If your friend, boss, or co-workers loves sailing and yachting during their spare time, an anchor pendant may just be your ticket to their good graces. Instead of just giving them the typical bottle of wine or something that will remain hidden in their attic, this could just be the accessory that they will find special enough to wear every day. People who spent their honeymoon on a ship or have participated in a race across the world will also treasure the memory that the anchor necklace will bring when they wear it.

Of course, Anchor necklace is not just for those who have special memories attached to the ocean. You can also buy an anchor necklace, because it looks great with your striped white-and-blue blouse. People who wear military-inspired jackets do not wear it because they are part of the military so go ahead and enjoy that necklace.
