Get The London Look With Fab Eyes

It is a fine art to make the eyes stand out. And like any good artist you will have to master the precise techniques of accurate brush work and careful colour blending. Almond shaped eyes are considered to be the holy grail. So when making-up eyes, try with the help of light and dark eye makeup to define the necessary changes to give the eyes an almond look.

Eye Pencils

Whether they are being used to shade or define the eyes, lips or brows, pencils should glide on smoothly, without dragging the skin. If you have difficulties with application because they are too soft and crumbly, place them in the freezer for a few minutes to harden before applying. Similarly, if they are too hard and pull at the skin, soften the point first by gently running it over the back of the hand.

Eyebrow Pencils

To fill thin brows and enhance the overall shape, eyebrow pencils can be used. Choose a sharpened pencil in the shade closest to the natural colour of your eyebrows and fill any open spaces using short irregular strokes to simulate real hair. Defining the brows, avoid drawing on one heavy line as this will look exaggerated. Apply over the brows in small feathered strokes or soften it by dusting with translucent powder or dab a cotton bud over the brows.

Applying Eyeshadow

Use eyeshadow, in striking, slightly shimmering tones, applied with a light hand, can give the face an air of luminosity. Eyeshadow should always glide on smoothly, and can be used to subtly change or enhance the shape of the eyes, to add simple definition or to make a strong impact, depending on your choice of colour. It is also useful to hide the blueness many of us have on the skin on our eyelids.

Eyeliner Application

Eyeliner Application requires a steady hand. If you find it hard to apply liner with precision, try etching it on using small feathered strokes and then blend with a fine-tipped brush or cotton bud. For easing, put a mirror on a flat surface and then work looking down into it.

Eyebrows

Factors to consider before shaping your brows:

- The facial distance from hairline to chin.
- The distance between both the eyes.
- The hair color and color of eyebrows.
- The facial distance from hairline to chin.
- The size of the forehead from temple to temple.
- The thickness of the brows

How To Apply Eye Mascara

With the advent of modern mascaras there is no need to pump the wand in and out of its container before applying such as it can actually cause overload and result in clogged lashes. Apply only enough products on the wand to coat the lashes, so any excess should be wiped off with a tissue. You should roll the wand through the lashes to help curl-definition; always work on the upper lashes from underneath to avoid overloading and keep mascara on the lower lashes to a minimum, especially if you are looking tired or have a tendency to rub your eyes a lot.
