Popular Fashion Designers - The World's Best 3 In 2011

With an ever changing fashion industry, it is important that the top designers keep up with the latest trends. As trends change, the fashion designers must adapt their styles and create new items in order to be successful. There are some designers that have been around for a long time and still remain at the top in the fashion world. Here are three of the top designers for men's clothing.

Ralph Lauren is undoubtedly one of the most popular men's fashion designers out there. He has had an interest in the fashion industry since he was very young. He started out designing unique ties for men, and his career started booming from that point on. He has since started a line for men and for women. If you want to have the ultimate preppy business-like style, and still have that classic look- you will want to consider Ralph Lauren's work.

Calvin Klein is yet another designer that has been around for quite some time. Most people recognize him most from magazine advertisements with the best looking models. He designs everything from jeans, to suits to undergarments. He is probably the most well known for his line of denim jeans. They provide men with a great fit and ultimate comfort- not to mention the highest element of style possible. You will always get the most modern look when you choose CK Jeans and apparel.

Everyone has heard of Giorgio Armani. While he is one of the higher end designers, he hasn't always had that same interest. In fact when he first started out in Italy he was a photographer. He realized that fashion was where he belonged, and then started designing the most intricate suits. His legend in the suit industry carries on year after year as he continues to rank top in the men's fashion world. You will surely pay a bit more for his name, but it is well worth it.

For the latest trends, make sure that you are shopping from only the best. The fashion designers with the highest popularity are usually a bit more expensive, but you will always know that your clothes are top of the line. These are definitely three of the most well known designers in the industry. They are able to keep up with the trends and provide you with the best clothes possible. This is definitely the best quality of a men's fashion designer.
