Swiss Army Mens Watch - Get The Right Sports Watch For You

Switzerland is known for many unique products. The most common products would be Velcro, Swiss cheese, and Swiss chocolate. The country is also known for its care and precision in the area of watch-making. The Swiss Army watches are one of its great achievements.

The company that created Swiss Army watches has been around since 1884. These watches were first created in Switzerland. The company is known for the creation of Swiss Army knives, but then branched out into creating watches.

Nineteen eighty-nine was the year the Swiss Army watch was available for purchase in the United States. The first watch, called the Swiss Army Original, is still desired today by watch buyers. One hundred and twenty-five years of excellence lead the company to produce a special anniversary watch, which was up for sale in 2009.

Twenty years has increased the range and style of watches the company now sells. Buyers will pay $125 for the Swiss Army Original. There are other models, such as the Alliance and Viviente, which could $500 to $1000 dollars, due to their dressier and more luxurious nature. The sportier models, such as the Chrono Classic and Infantry, are less expensive, and cost around $300 to $500.

The government of Switzerland is particular about the watches made within the nation. The moving parts of the watches must be inspected in Switzerland. The watches must also be made and assembled in Switzerland. Following these rules results in authentication by Swiss watch dealers.

The complexity of the original analog watch required many gears and coils to make it work. More than a hundred pieces were required for operation of the watch. The creativity of the watches design gave Switzerland importance in the eyes of watchmakers.

Swiss Army watches are not in need of repair as often as other watch brands might be because of the quality that goes into them at the beginning. That does not mean that accidents will not happen. There are many places that will repair a Swiss Army watch, even though they house so many moving parts.

Fraud is something to be cautious of when it comes to purchasing Swiss Army watches. Research is required to being able to tell the difference between a replica watch and one that is actually worthy of the Swiss Army name. Checking serial numbers is the first thing one could do, but a lot of people are now using real serial numbers for the fake watches they sell. The only way to fight fraud is to pay the high price the official dealers ask. A low price is not always a good deal, and it could just mean you are getting a counterfeit watch.
