

Published based on The Best Time Of The Year for Jewellery

The Best Time Of The Year for Jewellery

Jewellery, especially something like silver jewellery is something that many people like to wear across the whole of the year but the real fact is, sometimes it is just not appropriate to wear it. Baring this in mind, what are the best periods of year to put jewellery on and why is it not needed at certain points?.

Summer/Spring

In my personal opinion I think that the summer is a perfect time for something like Celtic jewellery or amber jewellery and this is because you will find a lot of this kind of stuff to be very colourful and great to wear in the summer sun. something else that you are going to be doing in the sun is putting on bright colours and this is the best time of the year to dive into the drawers to see if you can find some bright bangles and necklaces. these kinds of pieces look poor in the winter so make sure you do not use them at this time, unless of course the weather turns nice and then you can put them back on, the key thing is, do not wear them on grey days.

Autumn/Winter

The winter months are a great time because the colours go in and the more contemporary style jewellery comes out, it is time to bring out the favourites amongst many people, the gold and silver jewellery, they work well with the darker clothes which is great news for the winter. wearing silver with black clothes is the best way forward, you can wear blacks on any day of the year but the jewellery works better with black winter clothes. Do not be afraid to put on some colourful jewellery if one of the days turns out to be warm, take each day as it comes and you will be fine!

The key thing to remember is that you can wear jewellery all year round, you just need to be wearing the right kind!

You can also find this article published on The Best Time Of The Year for Jewellery, and on the tag pages amber jewellery, bright colours, celtic jewellery, jewellery, time, winter.